Experience

The only experience I have for now is the one that I got from making my programming projects. This includes python, HTML, CSS and JS; basics of java, C and C++. I have also some experience in designing and creating a MySQL database and connect to it through python or php connectors.

Education

I go to "Znanstveni licej Simon Gregorčič" high school, a slovenian school in italy. As the name suggests, it all revolves around science, mathematics in particular. Personally I prefer computer science over any other subject, but we only learn it on a basic level.

Hobbies

I really love creating stuff from basic parts and then program it to do as I please. I mostly do that with arduino boards and other electronic components, but except for the building part, the best part about it is the programming.
